Recent EmploymentMcGill Centre for Integrative Neuroscience

2015 - Present

As the Webmaster for the MCIN, my duties include the creation, editing, and maintenance of various web-projects for a variety of internal and external initiatives. My goal is to create interesting and usable designs to help communicate information to the academic community and the general population. Further duties include graphic design for logos, diagrams for papers/posters, as well as video editing for demos and promotional material.
